I. At-Will Employment

Employer agrees to hire Employee for the position of Chief Technology Officer as a full-time at-will employee. Employment under this Agreement is at-will and may be terminated by either Party without cause, subject to any advance notice obligations stated in this Agreement and any requirements imposed by applicable law.

No contract regarding the length of employment is created by this Agreement. Nothing in this Agreement guarantees employment for any fixed term.

II. Duties and Responsibilities

Employee agrees to act in accordance with this Agreement and in the best interests of Employer while performing the duties and responsibilities of the CTO position. Employee shall perform technical, operational, and executive technology duties reasonably assigned by Employer, including but not limited to:

- technology strategy and planning;
- server, software, infrastructure, bot, website, drone-related, and systems development;
- cybersecurity, access-control, infrastructure, and reliability oversight;
- technical leadership, documentation, testing, troubleshooting, and support;
- database, code, script, automation, and workflow management;
- coordination with staff, contractors, developers, vendors, and other personnel;
- daily operational tasks reasonably required by Employer for the CTO role.

Employee shall follow all lawful Employer policies, procedures, rules, and regulations communicated to Employee, provided such policies do not conflict with this Agreement, applicable law, or Employee's compensation rights.

III. Employment Period and Termination

Employee may terminate this Agreement by providing at least ninety (90) days written notice to Employer, unless the Parties agree in writing to a shorter notice period. Employer may terminate this Agreement by providing at least fourteen (14) days written notice to Employee, unless immediate termination is permitted by law or by this Agreement for serious misconduct.

Upon termination, Employer must pay Employee all earned, unpaid, and non-disputed compensation owed through the termination date, including any accrued deferred compensation, accrued hardship reserve balance, earned commissions, and other amounts owed under this Agreement. Termination does not waive, cancel, convert, or forgive compensation already earned by Employee.

Unless otherwise agreed in writing, Employee is not entitled to severance beyond compensation, commissions, deferred compensation, hardship reserve balances, equity rights, and other amounts already earned or owed.

IV. Base Compensation, Weekly Pay, and Commission

Employer shall pay Employee base compensation of Three Thousand Seven Hundred Fifty Dollars ($3,750.00) gross per month, equal to Forty-Five Thousand Dollars ($45,000.00) gross per year.

Compensation shall be paid on a weekly payroll or payment schedule. Based on fifty-two (52) weekly pay periods per year, the gross weekly compensation amount is approximately Eight Hundred Sixty-Five Dollars and Thirty-Eight Cents ($865.38), subject to legally required taxes, withholdings, deductions, and the deferred compensation or reserve arrangements stated in this Agreement.

Employer shall provide Employee with a written pay statement, payroll record, ledger entry, or other written accounting showing gross compensation, cash paid, amounts deferred, reserve amounts, deductions, commissions, and remaining balances for each pay period.

Job Completion Commission. In addition to base compensation, deferred compensation, reserve balances, and equity, Employee shall earn a commission equal to seven percent (7%) of the gross revenue actually received by Employer from each job, client project, service order, installation, development assignment, drone-related job, technical service job, or other paid job that Employee completes for or on behalf of Employer.

For commission purposes, a job is considered completed by Employee when Employee has performed the assigned work, the work has been delivered to the client or accepted by Employer, and client or customer payment for that job has been actually received by Employer. Commissions are earned only on amounts actually collected by Employer, not on unpaid estimates, proposals, canceled jobs, chargebacks, refunded amounts, taxes collected for remittance, pass-through expenses, or uncollected invoices.

Commission payments shall be calculated and paid on the next regular weekly payroll or payment date after the applicable client payment clears. Commission payments are subject to all legally required taxes, withholdings, and deductions. Commission compensation is separate from, and does not replace, reduce, offset, or satisfy, Employee's base compensation, deferred compensation, hardship reserve balances, equity interest, reimbursements, or any other amount owed under this Agreement.

Employer shall maintain a written commission ledger identifying each commission-eligible job, the client or project name, completion date, gross amount collected, commission rate, commission amount owed, date paid, and any unpaid commission balance. Employer shall provide Employee with an updated commission ledger upon request.

V. Deferred Compensation / Startup Cash Preservation Clause

For the first six (6) months of this contract, fifty percent (50%) of the compensation earned by Daniel Pall shall be deferred for company cash-flow preservation purposes. The remaining fifty percent (50%) shall be paid according to the normal weekly payroll or payment schedule, subject to all legally required taxes, withholdings, and deductions. All deferred amounts shall remain owed to Daniel Pall as accrued compensation payable and shall not be waived, forfeited, converted to equity, or considered forgiven unless agreed to in a separate written agreement signed by both Parties.

At the end of the initial six (6) month period, the Company shall conduct a financial review or audit to determine whether repayment of the deferred compensation can begin. If the Company is financially able, the Parties shall establish a written repayment schedule for the deferred balance. If the Company is not financially able to begin repayment, the fifty percent (50%) deferred compensation structure shall continue until the next financial review, and all previously deferred amounts shall remain recorded as compensation owed to Daniel Pall until paid in full.

The Company shall maintain a written ledger of all deferred compensation amounts and provide Daniel Pall with an updated balance upon request.

FAA Part 107 Certification Condition. Employee shall obtain an FAA Part 107 certificate within the first six (6) months of this Agreement and shall provide Employer with reasonable written proof of the certificate once obtained. If Employee has not obtained the FAA Part 107 certificate by the end of the initial six (6) month period, the fifty percent (50%) deferred compensation structure shall continue beyond the initial six (6) months until Employee obtains the FAA Part 107 certificate or the Parties agree otherwise in a separate written agreement signed by both Parties.

Continuation of the deferred compensation structure under this FAA Part 107 Certification Condition does not waive, cancel, forfeit, convert, or forgive any deferred compensation already accrued or later accrued. All deferred amounts shall remain recorded as compensation owed to Daniel Pall until paid in full, and the Company shall continue maintaining the written deferred compensation ledger.

Once Employee obtains the FAA Part 107 certificate and provides written proof to Employer, the Parties shall conduct or update the financial review described above within ten (10) business days to determine whether repayment of the deferred compensation balance can begin, unless the Parties agree to a different written review date.

VI. CFO Financial Hardship Reserve

If the Company Chief Financial Officer (CFO) provides written proof that the Company is experiencing business financial hardship, then twenty-five percent (25%) of compensation otherwise payable to all covered paid parties may be placed into a Company business savings or reserve account for cash-flow preservation purposes. For this clause, covered paid parties include founders, owners, officers, executives, managers, employees, contractors, and other paid personnel whose compensation may lawfully be subject to this arrangement by written agreement. The reserve must be applied uniformly to all comparable covered paid parties and may not be applied only to Daniel Pall unless Daniel Pall separately agrees in writing.

The CFO must provide reasonable written proof of financial hardship before any hardship reserve is applied. Reasonable proof may include current cash-flow statements, bank or account balances, payroll projections, accounts payable, revenue reports, profit-and-loss records, or other company financial records sufficient to show that the reserve is necessary for business cash preservation. The Company shall provide Daniel Pall with the proof relied upon or a written summary of the proof, subject to reasonable confidentiality protections.

Any hardship reserve amount taken from Daniel Pall’s compensation shall be recorded in writing as additional accrued compensation owed to Daniel Pall unless a separate written agreement signed by Daniel Pall states otherwise. Such amounts shall not be waived, forfeited, converted to equity, treated as a gift, treated as a voluntary donation, or considered forgiven. The Company shall maintain a ledger showing each hardship reserve amount, the pay period affected, the amount placed into business savings, the remaining balance owed, and any repayment made.

The Company business savings or reserve account may be used only for legitimate Company operating needs, including payroll, taxes, required business expenses, infrastructure, hosting, software, insurance, debt, or emergency operating costs. It may not be used for owner distributions, personal expenses, bonuses, preferential payments, or nonessential spending while Daniel Pall has unpaid deferred compensation or hardship reserve balances, unless Daniel Pall agrees in writing.

The CFO financial hardship reserve shall be reviewed at least once every thirty (30) days while active. If the Company is no longer experiencing documented financial hardship, the hardship reserve shall stop for future pay periods, and the Parties shall establish or update a written repayment schedule for all accrued unpaid hardship reserve amounts and deferred compensation balances.

Nothing in this clause authorizes the Company to violate applicable wage, payroll, minimum-wage, overtime, tax, deduction, withholding, or wage-payment laws. To the extent any portion of this clause is not legally enforceable as written, the Parties intend that Employee receive the maximum compensation protection allowed by law and that all lawful unpaid balances remain tracked as owed until paid in full.

VII. Equity Ownership

Employer agrees that Employee shall receive a thirty percent (30%) equity ownership interest in X-CEED TECH SOLUTIONS LLC, subject to the Company's governing documents, applicable law, and any legally required membership, shareholder, operating agreement, capitalization table, tax, vesting, voting, dilution, transfer-restriction, or securities-law documentation.

The equity interest is in addition to base compensation, deferred compensation, hardship reserve balances, commissions, and other amounts owed, and shall not be treated as payment in place of wages, salary, commission, deferred compensation, or reserve balances unless Employee signs a separate written agreement clearly stating that specific conversion.

Employer shall provide Employee with written equity documentation or a written company ledger confirming the 30% interest. If additional corporate, LLC, tax, or securities documents are required to properly issue, evidence, or record the equity, Employer shall cooperate in good faith to complete them.

VIII. Benefits, Paid Time Off, Holidays, and Expenses

Unless separately agreed in writing or required by law, Employee is not entitled to employee benefits other than the compensation, deferred compensation, hardship reserve repayment rights, commissions, and equity stated in this Agreement.

Employee is not entitled to paid time off or holiday pay unless separately approved by Employer in writing or required by law. Any expense reimbursement must be approved in writing by Employer before the expense is incurred, unless reimbursement is required by law.

IX. Confidentiality

Employee shall not disclose, sell, leak, exploit, or misuse confidential or proprietary information learned while employed by Employer. Confidential information includes business plans, inventions, designs, products, service processes, trade secrets, copyrights, trademarks, customer information, customer lists, prices, analytics data, costs, affairs, employee information, financial data, source code, credentials, security configurations, unreleased features, and private company communications.

Confidentiality does not apply to information that is publicly known through no wrongful act by Employee, independently developed without use of confidential information, already known before disclosure, or legally required to be disclosed. Employer shall not disclose Employee's private personal information, payroll information, compensation records, or private communications except as required for payroll, legal compliance, accounting, or written authorization from Employee.

X. Authority and Employee Role

Employee may act on behalf of Employer only within the reasonable scope of the CTO role or as specifically authorized by Employer in writing. Employee may not bind Employer to purchases, debts, loans, contracts, equity changes, legal claims, settlements, or public statements unless Employer expressly authorizes that action in writing.

XI. Company Property, Access, and Return of Materials

Upon termination or written request, Employee shall return any Employer property in Employee's possession or control, including equipment, electronic records, access credentials, notes, data, reports, models, files, and other company materials, except records reasonably needed for payroll, tax, payment disputes, legal protection, or proof of work performed.

Employer shall revoke or rotate access credentials, passwords, API keys, tokens, and administrative privileges when access is no longer required.

XII. Notices

All notices under this Agreement must be in writing and may be delivered by email, Discord direct message, certified mail, recognized courier, or another written system used by the Parties for employment or business communications. Notices are effective when sent, delivered, or acknowledged, depending on the method used and applicable law.

XIV. Compliance with Law

Employer agrees to comply with all applicable employment, payroll, tax, wage-payment, equity, corporate, securities, and recordkeeping obligations related to Employee's employment, compensation, deferred compensation, hardship reserve balances, commissions, and equity.

XV. Amendments

This Agreement may be modified or amended only by a written document signed or clearly acknowledged in writing by both Parties. No verbal statement, silence, delay, continued work, staff title, Discord role, or informal message shall waive Employee's right to compensation, commissions, deferred compensation, hardship reserve balances, or equity unless the waiver is in a separate written agreement signed by Employee.

XVI. Severability

If any section or provision of this Agreement is found invalid, unlawful, or unenforceable, the remaining sections shall remain legally binding to the maximum extent permitted by law. The invalid section shall be interpreted or replaced in a way that most closely matches the original intent while remaining enforceable.

XVII. Waiver

Failure by either Party to enforce any provision of this Agreement shall not be considered a waiver of that provision or any other provision. Any waiver must be in writing and signed by the Party giving the waiver.

XVIII. Governing Law and Venue

This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the State of Michigan, without regard to conflict-of-law rules, unless a different governing law is required by applicable employment law or agreed to in writing by both Parties. Any dispute shall be handled in a court or forum with proper jurisdiction over the Parties and claims.

XIX. Entire Agreement

This Agreement, including any signed exhibits or addenda, represents the entire agreement between Employer and Employee regarding Employee's employment, compensation, commissions, deferred compensation, hardship reserve balances, equity, and related terms. This Agreement supersedes all prior oral or written agreements, promises, discussions, or understandings regarding the same subject matter, except unpaid amounts or obligations that this Agreement expressly recognizes as still owed.

XX. Electronic Signatures

The Parties agree that electronic signatures, typed names, scanned signatures, verified e-signature platforms, email confirmations, and Discord acknowledgments may be used to show acceptance of this Agreement, to the extent permitted by applicable law.
